

'King of LSD' Is Acquitted

Los Angeles Times

LOS ANGELES — Augustus Owsley Stanley III, 34, the self-styled "King of LSD," has been acquitted of selling 500 capsules of the psychedelic drug to an undercover agent.

Superior Judge Paul W. Egly, after a five-day non-jury trial, ruled that there was insufficient evidence to connect Stanley with the alleged sale last Jan. 24 at International Airport.